

William (Bill) Decker Hatch II

Senior Lecturer

---

Experience

---

2013 - Current

Senior Lecturer, Graduate School of Defense Management

He has been at NPS for 22 years and teaches courses in Human resource management, education and training, Navy and Marine Corps manpower requirements. His research areas Unmanned Vehicles, United States military, International, and civilian Manpower, Personnel, Training and Education. Additional information is available upon request.

2005-2013

Lecturer, Graduate School of Defense Management

Manpower Systems Analysis Curriculum
Graduate School of Defense Management
Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, CA

1998-2004

Lecturer, Military Faculty GSBPP

Manpower Systems Analysis Curriculum
Graduate School of Defense Management
Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, CA

1982-2004

Surface Warfare Office, U.S. Navy

Commissioned U.S. Navy University California Berkeley NROTC
Retired as Commander 2004

Eleven years of sea duty and eleven years of shore duty.

Sea was all OCONUS Hawaii and Japan with multiple deployments to North Arabian Sea and Persian Gulf on Frigates, Destroyers, Cruisers, Destroyer Staff and Carrier. Sea going tours were mainly Engineering or related field. Shore activities Naval Postgraduate School, and Director of Surface Warfare Requirements Navy Manpower Analysis Center, Millington, Tennessee and as a student through a multitude of Naval Education, and Training Command schools.

Education

---

1990-1991

M.S. Management

Manpower, Personnel, Training and Analysis (MPTA)
Naval Postgraduate School

1980-1982

B.A. Industrial Arts

Teaching program

1980

A.A. Arts

De Anza College

Skills

---

- Military & Civilian Human Resource Management
- Manpower & Personnel Analysis
- International Course development
- Program Management
- Education and Training
- Unmanned Programs Research

Contact

---

555 Dyer rd.
Monterey, CA, 93943
831-224-2938
wdhatch@nps.edu