

Official Title: Research Professor (assigned specialty)

Pay Schedule: AD-07

Non-Tenure Track Position

- A. Summary: a Research Professor conducts research in the assigned field to advance the state of knowledge in the discipline, to meet DoN needs, and to provide student research topics; supervises and evaluates theses and dissertations; provides expert disciplinary advice to entities in DoN and DoD; intermittently teaches subjects offered by the home academic unit; provides academic service to NPS; and serves the broader academic community. Research Professors provide leadership across the department, school, and campus in a variety of roles, and provide significant off-campus service to the DoN and others. Research Professors interact professionally in a variety of national and international fora.
- B. Duties: a Research Professor
- proposes and leads scholarly research and disseminates those results, especially through peer-reviewed means;
 - maintains research line(s) that support(s) graduate education;
 - advises student theses and dissertations;
 - may prepare and teach assigned courses and seminars in residence, off-campus, on-line, or afloat, intermittently;
 - advises students and mentors junior research faculty on academic matters;
 - manages and governs selected research programs by performing academic service as required;
 - provides academic advice, service, or consultation to Naval and Defense activities and the larger community of scholars and others, as required; and
 - performs other duties commonly understood to be faculty duties, as required.
- C. Scope of Duties: Research professors lead research programs, and have significant off-campus impacts through services offered to DoN activities, DoD activities, and professional organizations. Research Professors may engage with students who are located at duty stations across the world as well as at Monterey.
- D. Qualifications:
- An earned doctoral degree in a discipline that supports departmental instructional and thesis research needs;
 - extensive experience (typically 12 years) as a faculty member in accredited institutions of higher education (or equivalent professional experience);
 - a national reputation for scholarship supported by a significant publications record and research funding history; and
 - evidence of superior advising of student theses or dissertations.
- E. Special Requirements: Position designated non-critical sensitive (requiring Secret eligibility) unless otherwise designated via the Position Designation Tool on the AD PD Addendum.