Winter Workshops

Presented by the
Dudley Knox Library &
Graduate Writing Center

Jan. 2022

From Dudley Knox Library:

Library Quick Start
Develop research skills and learn how to use library search, databases, research guides, Google Scholar, and more!

Thesis Quick Start
Time to begin your thesis? Not sure how to start? This workshop covers academic research in general, as well as some NPS specifics.

Citation Management with Zotero
Save time and improve note-taking by learning Zotero, a free tool that helps you collect, manage, and format your references.

Perfecting Paper Structure:

What (Nearly) Every Academic Paper Needs
Learn how the building blocks of academic papers fit together, making your papers more readable, complete, and academic.

Think before You Write: Pre-write & Plan
Learn strategies for decoding instructors’ essay-exam and paper prompts.

Organization: The Secret to Academic Writing
Discover techniques that produce strong papers and tools for effective communication.

Inquiry and Argument:

Constructing Research Questions
Learn proven strategies for developing answerable questions given constraints in resources, time, paper length, topic, and data.

Writing Persuasively: Logic, Evidence, and Style
Learn the strategies and conventions of written argumentation that are essential to your NPS studies and career.

Debating with Your Sources: They Say/I Say
Learn the methods that scholars use to engage in larger debates so you can stand on equal footing with the writers in your field.

Understanding Paper Types
Review the types of papers you may be asked to write at NPS.

Interpreting Prompts
Learn strategies for decoding instructors’ essay-exam and paper prompts.

Getting Published:

Writing for Online Outlets
Want to impact broader military discussions? Learn to pitch, scope, draft, and revise short pieces for online outlets.

Writing for Academic Journals
Target journals for your discipline, decode submission requirements, query editors, and prepare manuscripts for your academic research.

Winter Workshops

Using Sources in Your Work:

Mastering the Literature Review
Learn how literature reviews are constructed and how to make yours justify your research.

Critical Thinking in Review
Identify the differences between review and critical analysis so you can assess the strengths and weaknesses of other scholars.

Paraphrasing & Quoting Like a Pro
Confidently incorporate others' words, ideas, analyses, models, and images into your writing through quoting, summarizing, and paraphrasing.

Grad School Skills:

Strategic Reading I & II
In this popular workshop series, practice Professor Zachary Shore's method of reading at the graduate level. Learn techniques to quickly examine texts. Sessions are targeted to STEM or social Science students.

Mastering Note-Taking & Time Management
Learn and practice winning techniques for studying more effectively, taking useful notes, preparing for exams, and performing better during tests.

Writing Essentials & Revision:

Writing Essentials: Grammar
Review common grammar errors writers make and learn how to avoid them.

Writing Essentials: Punctuation
Learn about the most common punctuation marks in graduate writing, from em dashes to Oxford commas.

Writing Essentials: Clarity & Concision
Excellent clarity and concision stands as the core goal at the graduate and professional level of writing.

Writing Essentials: Strong Sentences
Learn how to communicate clearly and simply by demystifying the elements of sentence structure, including common patterns and the active voice.

Strategies for Active-Voice Writing
Overusing passive voice is a common stylistic blunder. This workshop explains what passive voice looks like and why, in most cases, active constructions serve you better.

...and more!

Professional Executive Summaries
Executive summaries help your research find an audience. Learn how to prioritize information, avoid jargon, write persuasively, and navigate this form’s rules.

Technical Writing
Learn the skills needed to write clear technical reports and theses. Together, you'll dissect a well-written report, and determine what makes it effective.

Illustrating Your Thesis with Tables & Figures
Learn guidelines for making effective visuals, explaining them in your text, and placing them in the thesis template.

Learning Tools at NPS

In support of your academic mission, we have assembled resources and best practices on the GWC website

nps.edu/web/gwc/learning-tools

Lifestyle Factors:
Many factors in your life play a role in the learning process, such as your health and fitness, ability to relax, and sleep patterns. This page provides resources that will help you maximize your lifestyle in support of your educational goals.

- Physical and Mental Health
- Sleep
- Relaxation
- Play for Rejuvenation
- Healthy Relationships
- Support Networks

Back to School:
Nearly everyone who has been out of school for more than a few years can benefit from a basic skills refresher. This page lists resources to help you get on your feet quickly, whether you are a resident, international, or distance-learning student.

Vital Skills for Academic Success:
- Critical Thinking
- Note-taking
- Presentation Skills
- Active Reading
- Test-Taking
- Time Management

nps.edu/web/gwc/learning-tools
NPS is committed to assisting all students’ efforts to achieve academic success. Students with disabilities—whether temporary or permanent, visible or invisible—can receive a variety of services to adjust or enhance traditional teaching and testing. NPS Program Officers coordinate services between faculty, staff, and students in an effort to offset circumstances that may negatively impact a student’s academic performance. At all points in the process, your private information is restricted solely to staff and faculty on a need-to-know basis.

What Are Reasonable Accommodations?
A reasonable accommodation is an adjustment or change to the environment that provides a student with an equal opportunity to learn and allows the individual to meaningfully participate in class activities.

Requesting Reasonable Accommodations at NPS
It is up to you to confidentially discuss your challenges and explore accommodations with NPS personnel. NPS is committed to making the process simple, fast, and discreet. Review the information on this website, then contact your program officer to get started.

Multiple Language Learners:
Whether you are visiting from another country or you have more than one language under your belt, you may find writing in American English a challenge at NPS. Use the links on this page to learn more about U.S. military writing style and formatting norms and polish your English. Visit the Writing Resources page for even more tools.

Learning Styles:
Learning styles categorize the different ways that people learn. Culture, environment, and purpose can also affect the learning process. Use knowledge of learning styles to develop study habits that optimize your strengths, and challenge yourself to experience different styles of learning, giving yourself more tools.

Research Refresher:
Most students are expected to conduct research: to collect and analyze information in order to answer a question, support an argument, and test a hypothesis. This complex, multi-step process will be less intimidating if you make research design choices that lead to more efficient work and meaningful findings. The tools here also help you get up to speed on terminology you will see in your readings.

Special Needs & Reasonable Accommodation:
NPS is committed to assisting all students' efforts to achieve academic success. Students with disabilities—whether temporary or permanent, visible or invisible—can receive a variety of services to adjust or enhance traditional teaching and testing.
