

U.S. Air Force Operational and Research Perspective

Description: A panel of 3 experts from the USAF will present their perspective on the importance of the human role in controlling and interacting with intelligent autonomous systems, how to develop these systems, and the on-going and future research on this topic.