

Critical Thinking for Strategic Leadership

Looking for an interesting elective course that could be useful for the rest of your life?
Consider learning more about critical thinking and strategic leadership.

In this course, we will focus on:

- ◆ How to cultivate strategic, innovative and critical thinking, and life-long learning
- ◆ Tools for thinking differently and critically, leading and managing in situations with ill-structured and wicked problems
- ◆ Understanding and applying principles, ideas, and interdisciplinary frameworks for leading agile organizations
- ◆ Synthesizing and integrating ideas, perspectives, and examples from national security and business contexts and applying to your own organization
- ◆ Examining cases, critical thinkers, and strategic leaders to better understand ways to use critical thinking to be a more effective strategic leader of warfighting organizations
- ◆ The course relies on active learning through cases, exercises, and projects. There is no prerequisite.

For more information, contact:
Professor Mie Augier
meaugier@nps.edu